Subject Telecare service

COPIES TO:

A new "Telecare" service designed to assist senior citizens and shut-ins through daily telephone checks will move a step nearer implementation when the Allen County Council on Aging holds a training seminar for volunteers Tuesday.

The training seminar, to teach volunteers who will subsequently begin daily telephone calls to elderly and incapacitated residents of the Fort Wayne area, will be held from 10 a.m. until 12 noon at the American Red Cross Center, 1212 E. California Rd.

Telecare calls, to be made at a pre-arranged time daily, are intended to check on the health and well-being daily of senior citizens and shut-ins.

Under the Telecare program, sponsored by the Allen County Council on Aging, if a volunteer's calls to a senior citizen are repeatedly unanswered, an emergency plan will be activated. For example, a friend, relative, or neighbor of the elderly person will be asked to check on the senior citizen.

Program participants can also sign a waiver that allows city police officers to enter the person's home if the senior citizen or shut-in cannot be reached.

Any person who is at least 60 years of age or a shut-in, with no one to check on him or her daily, is eligible for the free program.

Some 500 each volunteers and senior citizens and shut-ins are expected to be involved in the program by the end of the year.

Fort Wayne Mayor Robert Armstrong will join other city officials in serving as volunteers, although the mayor will be unable to attend Tuesday's training session.

The Telecare service is scheduled to begin on or around April 15.

Further information is available from the Allen County Council on Aging, 422-4776.

Subject Weather Information

COPIES TO:

Fort Wayne's various ~~weather~~ Public Safety departments have issued the following weather information:

Most tornadoes occur during the months of March through June, in the late afternoon and evening. However, they can and do occur in any month of the year and at any time of the day or night. Tornadoes usually travel from the southwest to northeast, and Indiana averages 23 tornadoes per year, the 10th highest in the nation.

Every family member should know the following information:

Watch - A tornado or severe thunderstorm watch is issued whenever conditions are favorable for severe weather to develop. A family should go about normal activities, but keep an eye on the sky and be prepared to take shelter if threatening conditions are sighted. Keep the radio or television turned to a station that promptly issues severe weather information.

Warning - A tornado or severe thunderstorm warning is issued whenever something has been sighted or indicated by radar. Citizens should take shelter immediately if threatening conditions are sighted. Keep a constant look for severe weather and have in mind where to go for maximum protection.

Some tornado safety rules:

Home - The safest place is in below-ground shelter or basement and get under something heavy or a stairway. If you don't have a basement, go to a small interior room on the lowest floor such as a hallway, closet, or bathroom. Stay away from outside windows, doors, and walls.

Outside - If you are in the open, lie flat in a ditch or depression and hold onto something if you can. Protect your head.

Car - Drive at right angles to the tornado's path. If you can't drive at right angles, get out of the car and lie in a ditch or ravine away from your car.

Mobile Home - Leave the mobile home and seek shelter in a sturdy building, whenever a tornado or severe thunderstorm is issued.

Report all severe weather to the nearest law enforcement agency.

Lightning -

Most people overlook the danger of lightning, but lightning kills more people per year than hurricanes or tornadoes. Some safety rules are as follows:

Take shelter inside buildings and avoid electrical fixtures and plumbing. Automobiles offer excellent protection. If you are caught in the open near a high object, crouch down about twice the distance from the object as it is high. Avoid high objects, especially trees. Get out of water and small boats. If you are caught in the open, crouch or lie flat in a ditch or depression.

In a group struck by lightning, treat those that appear dead first. The apparently dead can often be revived by prompt mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and cardiac massage. Those showing vital signs usually recover spontaneously.
